

Learning for Life

The WEA (Workers' Educational Association) offers adults the opportunity to enhance their knowledge of different subjects according to the individual's interest.

Uniquely in the educational world, the WEA is controlled by its members – the students. All courses are organized by the local branch which is run by voluntary members.

All tutors are chosen carefully by the organization for their knowledge and expertise in the particular subject.

Anyone can join a class, there are no entrance requirements, and no exams! The tutor prepares an outline for the course but the actual course content can be changed by group discussion with your fellow students. Dependant on the class, there are also practical demonstrations and visits.

Continuation classes can be arranged – please contact your local branch chairman – Alan Buckman on 01304 367711

EXPLORING LOCAL HISTORY: Putting Research into Practice

For people with an interest in the past, either through Family History research, or just a love of your surroundings or Heritage. Join our fledgling historians to research Upper Deal and the people that have lived there. Many topics of research present themselves in this ancient area of Deal. Our tutor will guide us on getting the best out of the research, some of which will be done at various archive collections. We plan to gather evidence from the locality and people, and with microfiche sources and net based material we should be able to mount a substantial exhibition at the end of the course.

The list of topics is endless.. history of a parish and its church; a particular street or house; schools and former schools; industrial, commercial, agricultural; social, pubs, inns, theatres, cinemas; caring for the sick and poor. etc By studying these or similar topics you will be able to further your own research and knowledge to put flesh on the mist of times past.
